Offer

Mobile Strategy Consulting

Attrecto is engaged in the research and development of mobile software solutions since the dawn of the smartphone era. In the last 5 years we finished over 60 projects successfully, for several - including Fortune 500 - clients from various industries and with various sizes and needs.

Our Mobile Strategy Consulting division offers access to our expertise derived from these projects, and is essential for clients who understand the necessity of a mobile solution for their growth or efficiency, but do not know how the app / mobile solution should look and work like.

This modular service comprises of 21 elements, and is an intensive and iterative, 4-8 week process. It is performed by a seasoned team, usually involving - to certain degrees - a graphic designer, an architect, a server-side developer and 2-3 consultants).
